No 221

Peking. November 16. 1874.

My Lord,

The Ministers Mao, Tung, Shen, Cheng, and Hsia, the first three being those with whom I had had most to confer in the settlement of the Japanese affair, wrote when all was over to say that on the 8th instant they would call to thank me and Mr Mayers for the trouble we had taken.

I thought that I might improve the occasion by the inclosed note, and I followed it up by some remarks remarks in the same sense when their Excellencies called on me. I need hardly say that I have long ceased to be sanguine, in any case, of immediate results, and nothing fell from the Ministers in this instance that could dispose me to optimise.

I have the honor to be,
with the highest respect,
My Lord,
Your Lordship's most obedient humble servant

Mr Wade has had much pleasure in communicating the flattering message of their Excellencies to Mr Mayers. So far as Mr Wade himself has been personally connected with the discussion now happily terminated by the Tsungli Yamên, he has done nothing more than it became him to attempt

No 222.

My Lord,

I have the Honor to acknowledge receipt of a telegram from Your Lordship replying to mine of the 1st Instant, and informing me that Her Majesty's Government approved my endeavours to promote the settlement of the Formosan affair which I had reported. In my Despatch No 219 of this date I have inclosed translation of the Prince of Kung's Circular of the 1st Instant formally communicating the text of the Agreement and Guarantee signed at the
