No 149.

U. S. Legation, Japan,
Tokei, November 8, 1874.

Hon. Hamilton Fish,
Secretary of State,
Washington, D.C.

Sir:

I have the honor to inform you that this evening I am assured by a high Japanese official that this Government is this day in receipt of a telegraphic despatch from Mr Okubo, the Japanese Ambassador to Peking, to the effect that an amicable settlement between China and Japan has been concluded. I have no details, but hope that the information is reliable.

To prevent a conflict of arms between these two powers has been my endeavor from the begining of the movement.

Should

Should anything occur to defeat the settlement made, the report of it will, doubtless, reach the United States by telegram.

I am, Sir,
