Japanese Peace Treaty.

Dulles is now back and has discussed with State Department the text of the suggested statements to be made by United States and United Kingdom Governments about handling of Chinese participation and Formosa in Japanese Peace Treaty. It has been decided that text will be issued in following form:- First two paragraphs remain unchanged. Bracketed part of paragraph 3 i.e. from "it is for example" down to "other allied powers" will be omitted. Something on these lines however may be said orally to press. Last sentence of paragraph 4 will now read "the treaty itself would not determine the future of these islands". Rest of this sentence in present text will be omitted although State Department would not object to its use in London.

2. State Department are anxious to make some announcement very soon possibly as early as a press conference to be held on Monday afternoon. Any comments you may have should therefore reach us not later than Monday morning our time.

Your Telegram No. 1860 [15th June].

Japanese Peace Treaty: China and Formosa.

Comments on proposed announcement ~~text~~ will be telegraphed by ~~before~~ Monday morning.

2. Text is being telegraphed to Commonwealth Governments to-day. It is ~~however essential~~ most important that we should carry them with us if possible on this crucial point, and we feel it would ~~therefore~~ be a mistake to give them the impression that we ~~are~~ were trying to rush them. We suggest therefore that issue of announcement should be delayed by, say, ~~48~~ 24 hours.

3. In any case it is essential that we should have adequate advance warning of ~~proposed~~ exact time of issue in order to [concert issue here having regard to] ~~consider~~ Parliamentary and publicity factors involved ~~here~~.

For your own information, while we recognise force of point made by Dulles during discussions here, to effect that we and the United States Government have different problems as regards presentation of this decision to public opinion in our respective countries, we are sure U.S. Government will agree that we should do nothing to encourage Press speculation about possibility of continued difference in policy as regards Formosa.

At some later stage, as Mr Dulles and I envisaged, it may be necessary in course of debate to reveal certain differences of approach on a few matters but not now and we should keep revelations to a minimum.
