Japan's future relations with Formosa: Mr. Acheson told me in Paris that he had had a telegram (text contained in my immediately following telegram) from Mr. Dulles regarding need for Japan to regularise her relations with Formosa.

2. I agreed with Mr. Acheson that Merchant (State Department) should go to London at once for preliminary discussions with R.H. Scott. Merchant arrived in London on 13th November. Discussions have resulted in a draft "Memorandum of Understanding", of which the text is contained in my telegram No: 1334.

3. Merchant is telegraphing text to Washington for comments of Mr. Dulles. Before considering matter further I shall be grateful for your comments as soon as possible.

4. Purpose of these discussions is to arrive at an agreement on general principles of policy which can be made the basis for detailed discussions between Mr. Dulles and yourself in Tokyo. Our objective is to maintain joint Anglo-American front in our dealings with Japanese Government over the Peace Treaty and connected issues, and to assist the United States Administration over the difficulties which they expect in the Senate during the process of ratification so far as it is possible for us to do so without violating the principle underlying agreement reached with Dulles in London in June last on this subject.

5. See my immediately following telegram.
