JAPAN AND FORMOSA

FJ 10310/30

I telephoned to Mr. Herbert Morrison at the House of Commons with reference to the point which he had raised with you earlier to-day. He wished to know whether the letter sent by Mr. Yoshida to Mr. Dulles on December 24th was a breach of any undertaking given to him by Mr. Dulles. I quoted the text of the formula agreed between Mr. Morrison and Mr. Dulles (text is given in Tntel No. 144 of June 26th 1951, copy attached) which showed that this recent development did not, strictly speaking, contravene the written memorandum of understanding. Mr. Morrison commented that it was nevertheless a breach of the spirit of the agreement.

2. Mr. Morrison asked me to tell the Secretary of State that he would have no objection to the Americans being told that he did not like this development at all and that he thought it scarcely consistent with the understanding between himself and Mr. Dulles which underlay the Peace Treaty.

3. He asked also if he might have a copy of the memorandum of understanding referred to above and any other notes on what Mr. Dulles had said which might bear on this subject.

4. I attach a draft letter to Mr. Morrison.

5. I do not know whether the Secretary of State would wish to pursue Mr. Morrison's suggestion about associating his name with any protests but attach a draft telegram to Washington for consideration.

H. A. Scott

17th January, 1952.

Permanent Under-Secretary

I do not think we need say anything in Washington about Mr. Morrison's views. But I think I might write to Mr. Morrison as proposed in the draft.
