Addressed to Foreign Office telegram No. 201 of 18th January
Repeated for information to Tokyo

In the course of a statement in the Senate on January 16th about Yoshida's letter to Dulles, full text of which follows by bag, Senator Sparkman said "Mr. President, this act on the part of the Prime Minister of Japan is an act of courage on his part because there are many people in Japan, many in his own Government, who probably feel that this step should not be taken, certainly not unless the United States and Great Britain are able to present a united front in favour of such action.

We know that this did not accord with the wishes of Great Britain. It does accord with the wishes of the United States Government, which the Senator from New Jersey, (Mr. Smith), Mr. Dulles and I did our best to make known to the Japanese Government and the Japanese people while we were in Japan".

Foreign Office please pass to Tokyo as my telegram No. 8.
