Yoshida's letter to Dulles.

Following is text of first of 3 Parliamentary Questions on this subject to which a single reply was given on 30th January. Mr. Fenner Brockway: asked the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs what representations His Majesty's Government have made in respect of the Japanese Government's policy of recognising the Chinese Nationalist Government situated in Formosa instead of the Government of the Chinese People's Republic.

Mr. Eden - "His Majesty's Government have repeatedly stated in this House and to the American authorities in Tokyo and Washington their views that relations between Japan and China should be a matter for decision by the Japanese Government after the Peace Treaty comes into force and Japanese sovereignty is fully restored. That has always been our view and it is still our view. It applies equally to Japan's relations with countries other than China".

2. Following are some points made in answers to Supplementaries:-

(a) Mr. Eden "... We made our views absolutely plain to the United States Government on a considerable number of occasions. They were fully aware that that was our view and they are fully aware that that is still our view".

(b) Mr. Eden "I can say that His Majesty's Government have had no part tacit or otherwise in the drafting and publication of that letter" (Yoshida's letter to Dulles). "We could not possibly have because it does not express the views of His Majesty's Government which have been repeatedly stated to the American Government".

(c) Mr. Eden "..... At the same time although this document has been written by the Japanese Government to the United States Government it still remains a fact that no decision by the Japanese on other existing arrangements be taken [illegible]".
